C.A.R. State Project

Kentucky C.A.R. President Mitchell Clouse has chosen for his state project to collect money for the Center for Courageous Kids.

The Center for Courageous Kids, also known as CCK, is a world class medical camp located in Scottsville, KY, serving children and families from across the country who are living with a variety of medical challenges. They are open year round and can host 120 kids at a time.

Thanks to a generous donor, this camp is a 20 million dollar facility with a 168 acre campus. It has an onsite medical center with helipad, indoor aquatic complex, equestrian riding arena, bowling alley, gymnasium, climbing wall, boating and fishing, dining hall, theater, four camper lodges, and so much more!

The Center for Courageous Kids is a 501-C non profit corporation that operates entirely from donations. They Prescribe Fun for these deserving children.

Take a look at their web-site and watch the video. You will see what a worthwhile project Mitchell has chosen.

Vision of the Center for Courageous Kids

A world class medical camping facility in the rolling hills of Scottsville, Kentucky providing a cost-free, safe, and fun camping experience for seriously ill and disabled children and their families.

The KSCAR has two sets of K.S.C.A.R, note cards available at $5 each to raise funds for the State Project. The Saratoga Collection includes 8 different cards and envelopes featuring pictures relating to the National Theme, "Saratoga: The Turning Point." The C.A.R. Collection includes 8 different cards and envelopes featuring C.A.R. -themed pictures, such as endangered species and veterans. All note cards have information about C.A.R. and the State Project on the back.

The KYSSAR has made a donation to the KYCAR for this project. You can help individually by purchasing a set of cards, described below at our next state meeting. Or, if you would like to make an individual donation, make your check payable to the KSCAR and mail it to KSCAR President, 306 Wilderness Rd , Glasgow, KY 42141-2070

Mission of the Center for Courageous Kids

To uplift children who have life-threatening illnesses by creating experiences year-round that are memorable, exciting, fun, build self-esteem, are physically safe, and medically sound.

Revolutionary War in Kentucky

When the war broke out in the east, on 9 April, 1775, Kentucky was no more than a county in Virginia. But that "shot heard round the world" was also heard in the new settlements of the west. These frontiersmen were mostly loyal Virginians, and many third and fourth generation Americans. The closest British troops were in Kaskaskia, Illinois and Detroit, but those who went west in search of new land were well aware that the Indians would ally themselves with the British. The Kentuckians realized that if they wanted this new land, they would have to fight for it.

And they did not have to wait long to be invaded by hostile Indians. They were attacked by the Cherokee from the south and the Shawnee, Delaware, Mingo, and Huron living to the north. At first the settlers in Kentucky were only subject to raids from small bands of warriors, who caused a few casualties and went home, but by 1777 it was necessary to build and live in forts for months at a time, besieged by their enemy. As both settler and their Indian opponents were living on the land, they could not fight continuously, as they were required to spend some of their time hunting or producing food.

For the settlers in Kentucky, it was a long war, which continued even after peace was established in the east. In a four year period between 1783 and 1787, over 1,500 people were killed or captured in Kentucky, and 20,000 horses were stolen by the Indians. This war with the northern Indians continued until 1795 when the Greenville Treaty ended the war on the frontier.

Knox Central High School, Revolutionary War Hall

Don Root

A few months ago an effort began at Knox Central High School in Knox County, Kentucky to reach back in time to return to the basics of American history. To dedicate a hall to the first American army. The hall would be named "Revolution Hall." A dedication service was held on the 9th of November 2012.

A tour through this hall will reveal a pictorial remembrance of America's birth and struggles thereof. The essential requirements, and demands that were carried out to obtain America's national sovereignty, made who we are--Americans.

May America never lose sight of the sacrifices of those who have gone before us to the attainment of Her sovereignty. On the justification of the Judeo-Christian ethos.

Woodrow Wilson said the following: "A nation which does not remember what it was yesterday, does not know what it is today, nor what it is trying to do."

The author of the above remarks was Don Root, a member of the Captain Charles Gatliff SAR Chapter. Don, who originated the idea of "Revolution Hall," spoke at the dedication ceremony. He is a direct descendant of one of George Washington's Life Guards.

The Knox Central High School JROTC Color Guard presents Colors at the dedication service of "Revolution Hall." At the top of the picture you will see George Washington's Commander's flag, a copy of the U.S. Constitution and pictures of General Henry Knox and George Washington. In the hall, one will find about 40 pictures and historical documents relating to the Revolutionary War and the founding of our country.

Representing the SAR and DAR were: Kentucky DAR Regent Jessianne Wells, DAR Chapter Regent Carolyn Falin, KYSSAR President Harry Geimeier, KYSSAR President-Elect Tom Geimeier, Past State President Tom Higgins, KYSSAR Historian Charlie Scott, Captain Charles Gatliff Chapter President Dr. Michael Colegrove, NSSAR Executive Director Don Shaw, NSSAR Center for Advancing America's Heritage Director Colleen Wilson and SAR member Don Root. Renovation of Fulton Conway Building--905 West Main Street

The renovation of the Fulton Conway Building began early this year with work to improve the looks of the front of the building. Old white paint was removed and new windows were installed on the second floor.

Now, work begins to renovate the inside of the building & redo the exterior in the back of the building

The roof between the back wall and an interior wall has been removed and the back wall is being removed. The picture on the right shows a rendering of what the new exterior should look like.

Work in progress as of November 15, 2012

The roof has been removed and the back wall is coming down!
